1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life.
The author discusses the various theories which have been advanced, and concludes that the most probable theory is that life originated in the ocean.
The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the problem of the evolution of life.
The author discusses the various theories which have
theory is that life evolved from simple chemical compounds.

2. The first of these is the fact that the system is not self-sufficient. It is dependent on the outside world for its raw materials and for its markets.

3. The second is the fact that the system is not flexible. It is not able to adapt itself to changing conditions. It is not able to cope with the uncertainties of the future.

4. The third is the fact that the system is not equitable. It is not able to provide for the needs of all people. It is not able to provide for the needs of the poor.
